OUR PEOPLE

SPOTLIGHT ON...

LUNCH AND LEARN

Boyle County residents rank among the nation's highest for diabetes, high blood pressure, heart disease, and high cholesterol. The FCS agent addressed these issues with a monthly lunch and learn. The program covered how to access and prepare healthy food on a budget; making lifestyle changes and increasing physical activity; improving food preparation; and managing health issues. The agent demonstrated recipes from the Nutrition Education Program yearly calendar. This allowed participants to see how easy they were to prepare, analyze costs, read labels, and do a taste test. Evaluations showed that 75% prepared more food at home and all used recipes from the class.
